The Compensation Committee shall be directly and exclusively responsible for the appointment, compensation, and oversight of the work of any such advisor retained by the Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee is empowered, without further action of the Board, to cause the Company to pay the compensation of such advisors as the Compensation Committee so engages, but within any budgetary constraints imposed by the Board. The Compensation Committee may select, or receive advice from, a compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other adviser to the Compensation Committee, other than in-house legal counsel, only after taking into consideration the following factors:

(i) the provision of other services to the Company by the person who employs the compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other adviser;

B. Responsibilities

1. Each year, the Compensation Committee shall:

- review and approve corporate goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of the Company's Chief Executive Officer ("CEO"),
- evaluate the performance of the CEO in light of those goals and objectives, and
- set the compensation of the CEO, as described in paragraph 3 below, based on this evaluation.

The CEO shall not be present during deliberations or voting on his or her compensation.

2. Each year, the Compensation Committee shall review and set the compensation of the Company's executive officers other than the CEO, as described in paragraph 3 below, with the CEO present for such review and determination.

3. Each year, the Compensation Committee shall review and approve, for the CEO and the other executive officers of the Company, all annual and other compensation arrangements and components, which may include the following:

- the annual base salary,
- the annual incentive opportunity,
- the long-term incentive opportunity, and
- any special or supplemental benefits including pensions and other retirement benefits.

The objective of any such remuneration policy shall be to attract, retain and motivate the executive officers of the quality required to run the Company successfully without paying more than is necessary, having regard to the needs of shareholders and other stakeholders. The remuneration policy should have regard to the risk appetite of the Company and alignment to the Company's long term strategic goals. A significant proportion of remuneration should be structured so as to link rewards to corporate and individual performance and designed to promote the long-term success of the Company.

In determining the long-term incentive component of compensation, the Compensation Committee may consider, as and to the extent deemed appropriate, the Company's performance and relative stockholder return, the value of similar incentive awards to chief executive officers and other executive officers of a peer group of companies, and the awards given to the CEO and the other executive officers in past years. No director shall be involved in any decisions as to their own remuneration.

4. Each year, the Compensation Committee shall review, having regard to pay and employment conditions across the Company, especially when determining annual salary increases, and make a recommendation to the Board regarding the compensation of all directors.
5. The Compensation Committee will endorse, and recommend to the Board for its approval, an annual Remuneration Report to be included in the Company's Annual Report. The Remuneration Report will contain information on the Company's remuneration policy and practices, its implementation of that remuneration policy in the previous financial year, and attendance at and frequency of the Compensation Committees meetings.
6. The Compensation Committee will prepare and adopt an annual report on its activities for incorporation in the Corporate Governance Statement within the Company's Annual Report.
7. When and as appropriate, the Compensation Committee shall review, approve the design of, determine targets for, and make recommendations to the Board with respect to incentive compensation plans and equity-based plans. Stockholders shall be given the opportunity to vote on equity compensation plans, as required by (i) law, (ii) applicable listing standards, (iii) the Company's certificate of incorporation or bylaws, or (iv) the Company's Corporate Governance Guidelines.
8. When and as appropriate, the Compensation Committee shall review and approve, for the CEO and the other executive officers, all employment agreements, severance arrangements, and change-in-control agreements and provisions to ensure that contractual terms on termination, and any payments made, are fair to the individual and the Company, that failure is not rewarded and the duty to mitigate loss is fully recognized.
9. When and as appropriate, the Compensation Committee shall determine and review the policy for, and scope of, pension arrangements for each director and other executive officer.
10. The Compensation Committee shall oversee any major changes in employee benefits structures throughout the Company.

11. The Compensation Committee shall agree on the policy for authorizing claims for expenses from the directors

12. The Compensation Committee shall review and approve, or as to any director, review and recommend to the Board for its approval of, any transaction in equity securities of the Company, or derivatives of those equity securities, between the Company and any executive officer, non-executive employee, director, or other equity award grantee as permitted under the Company's equity award plans.

13. The Compensation Committee shall review and discuss with the Company's management the CD&A to be included in the Company's Proxy Statement and, based on that review, determine whether to recommend to the Board that the CD&A be included in the Proxy Statement, in accordance with applicable rules and regulations.

14. Each year, the Compensation Committee shall prepare a Compensation Committee Report and publish the report in the Company's Proxy Statement, in accordance with applicable rules and regulations.
